

FASB TO HOLD ROUNDTABLE MEETINGS ON AGENDA CONSULTATION

November
2016

Public Roundtable Meetings on the FASB Invitation to Comment on Agenda Consultation

The FASB will host two public roundtable meetings on its August 2016 Invitation to Comment, Agenda Consultation, which it issued to solicit feedback about potential financial accounting and reporting topics that the FASB should consider adding to its agenda. The Invitation to Comment describes four major financial reporting topics: (1) intangible assets (including research and development), (2) pensions and other postretirement benefit plans, (3) distinguishing liabilities from equity, and (4) reporting performance and cash flows (including income statement, segment reporting, other comprehensive income, and statement of cash flows). It also seeks feedback on other major areas of financial reporting, beyond those four topics, that the FASB should consider adding to its agenda. The comment period for the Invitation to Comment ends October 17, 2016.

The purpose of the roundtables is to provide an opportunity for those who have submitted a comment letter to discuss their feedback on the agenda consultation with Board members in greater detail. The Board is seeking participation from financial statement users, preparers, auditors, and others.

Those interested in participating in one of the roundtables should register online by Monday, October 31, 2016. Nonparticipating observers also should register in advance (seating is available on a first-come, first-served basis).
